Delegates Asked to Transfer Oil Strike Talk to Washington

Picture on Labor Front Throughout Nation is Worst in Months

(By the Associated Press)
The government sought today to avert a nation-wide strike of oil workers which would push the nation's total of workers idle over labor disputes well past the 2,000,000 mark.
Edgar L. Warren, new chief of the U. S. Conciliation Service, invited the deadlocked delegates attending the oil strike conference in Chicago to adjourn immediately to Washington, "at the request," he said, of Labor Secretary Schwellenbach. Warren said "it was felt" more progress toward a settlement could be made in Washington.
Meanwhile, a walkout of elevator operators in Manhattan, keeping thousands of New Yorkers from their jobs, spread to 100 additional structures today after two locals of the CIO Elevator Operators and Building and Maintenance union called a strike over a WLB ruling increasing wages but reducing "take-home" pay. Both sides were summoned to a WLB hearing to explain why the walkout should not end.

Picture Worst in Months

The over-all labor picture was the worst in months. The strike list, below the 100,000 mark most of the year preceding V-J day, bulged as hundreds of thousands of workers were forced off their jobs by disputes, some of them fresh outbreaks.

A quick survey along the troubled labor front showed:
More than 1,850,000 workers off their jobs, some 370,000 idle by strike, the other hit indirectly by the stoppages.

An apparent deadlock appeared in the Chicago conference of oil industry and CIO union leaders with federal conciliators.

A nation-wide strike of oil workers would add 250,000 more to the strike lines. Some 55,000 workers are on strike in seven states, demanding a 30 per cent wage increase.

New York City Struggles

For the fourth day New York City struggled in the grip of a single strike which paralyzed business and industrial activity at an estimated loss of millions of dollars in trade and wages, and inconvenienced hundreds of thousands. The strike by about 15,000 AFL elevator operators and building service employees threatened to spread.

Across the country in the Pacific Northwest where more than 60,000 AFL lumber workers are striking, a CIO union continued policy meetings but did not issue a strike call to its 40,000 workers.

Additional coal miners left their jobs in West Virginia and Pennsylvania bringing the total miners idle in the two states to more than 35,000. The strike-idle in Pennsylvania alone mounted to around 75,000, including 33,500 at four Westinghouse Electric Company plants. Fifty-eight bituminous pits were closed.

Conference Recedes

In Detroit, plagued for months by strikes and shutdowns and currently having some 90,000 idle, CIO-United Automobile Workers representatives and Chrysler Corporation spokesmen made no comment as they recessed their conference on the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase for the company's 80,000 workers.

One dispute in Detroit ended, 3,100 Murray Corp. workers going back to work after being idle for

Million Discharged From Army Since Nazi Surrender Says Chief

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The strength of the Army apparently may be cut to about 1,630,000 by next July 1, war department officials indicated today.

This was brought out at Secretary of War Patterson's news conference when he was asked whether the 1,950,000 force mentioned in a recent White House statement as the goal for next July 1, included men tagged for discharge and awaiting release.

Maj. Gen. A. D. Surles, chief of Army public relations, explained that the figure included 320,000 men scheduled for discharge, which indicated the eventual force would be about 1,630,000. Patterson said that by Christmas the number of men discharged would be well over 3,000,000. Since the surrender of Germany five months ago 1,000,000 men have been discharged; the discharge rate this week is more than 26,000 a day, and this number will be stepped up, Patterson said.

T. P. & W. to Cease Operation When U. S. Frees Railroad

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A union leader said today he has asked President Truman to cancel an order relinquishing government control over the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad in order to avoid a strike.

D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen, said the railroad's 500 union employees have voted to strike October 1 unless the private owners draw up a contract stipulating working conditions.

The October 1 date has been fixed by Truman as the day the freight line will be turned back to the owners. The railroad was the first private property seized after Pearl Harbor. A strike at that time, in the spring of 1942, prompted the seizure.

George P. McNear, Jr., railroad president, said yesterday the line would cease operations October 1 anyway because he had been informed of the union's intention to strike. McNear said he opposed what he termed "feather bed rules" of rail labor organizations and would not employ persons who had committed acts of violence against the railroad in the past.

Is Connecting Line

Robertson said McNear "absolutely has refused to talk" with the union on establishing a contract.

McNear wants to fix his own wages and working conditions regardless of what conditions prevail in the rest of the country. Robertson told a reporter. The railroad's private managers, Robertson said, have "sent out notices to former strike breakers to come back to work."

The line is a connecting link between the Pennsylvania railroad, Santa Fe, Rock Island and other railroads.
G. P. McNear announced yesterday that an embargo on all traffic would go into effect at 12:01 a. m. Central Standard Time, October 1, the hour when the property is scheduled to be returned to its owners.

The notice to cease operations was issued, McNear said, because he had been informed the road would be tied up by a strike as soon as government control is lifted.

McNear said a copy of the notice had been sent to H. H. Best, the railroad's federal manager, asking him to clear the T. P. & W. tracks so shippers will not suffer. Best later replied that shippers would be protected, without amplifying the statement.

Dixonites Sue for $26,000 Damages

Three Dixon residents have filed damage suits totalling $26,000 against Henry Elmendorf, Tampico, in Whiteside county Circuit court at Morrison as the outgrowth of an automobile crash Dec. 30, 1944, near Tampico. Elmendorf was driver of one of the cars involved in the accident.

Joseph Dautler, Dixon, who drove the other car when the collision occurred, asks $1,000 for damages to his auto, while his daughter, Miss Marjorie Dautler, seeks $12,500 for permanent disfigurement, a fractured jaw, loss of time and hospital and medical expenses. The third plaintiff, Ruth Gorton of Dixon, a passenger in the Dautler car, asks $12,500 for injuries which included a fractured leg.

Trial by jury has been requested by the plaintiffs and the three cases probably will be combined for trial. Jacob Cantlin of Rock Falls is attorney for the complaining parties.

American Officer Killed, Another Wounded by Annamese in Indo-China

Saigon, Indo China, Sept. 26.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Lt. Col. A. Peter Dewey of Washington, D. C., was killed and Capt. Joseph Coolidge of New Hampshire was seriously wounded by Annamese in disorders today.

The American officers, defending U. S. headquarters from a siege of three hours, killed at least eight natives.

British, French and Japanese also suffered casualties in a series of incidents. As a result of the continued disorders, Field Marshal Count Juiichi Terauchi, the Japanese commander, was placed under virtual house arrest.

Dewey, about 28, headed the American Office of Strategic Services delegation here. His wife and daughter live in Washington. A Yale graduate and a former Chicago Daily News correspondent, he

Third of all Meat to be Freed From Ration on Sunday

OPA Takes Points Off Lower Grades of Beef, Veal and Lamb

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—One-third of the increasing meat supply will be ration-free beginning Sunday.

The OPA formally announced today that from Sunday through October 27 no points will be required for lower grades of beef, veal and lamb.

Also ration-free will be hamburger, lamb and veal patties and all cheaper cuts of all grades of meat. These include such cuts as short ribs and brisket of beef, breast and flank of lamb and shank of veal.

Points are being eliminated, too, on all canned meats, sausage, frankfurters, luncheon varieties and all other products made from lower grades of meat. These grades are utility, canner and culler beef, and utility and cull veal and lamb.

This will leave on the ration list at current point values all pork cuts, bacon and other cured meats, the choice cuts of beef, veal and lamb of top grades—such as steaks, roasts and chops—and butter, margarine and other fats and oils.

Canned Fish Trimmed

Points on canned fish are being trimmed two to three points a pound.

OPA said it was in agreement with the agriculture department that rationing of pork and the three top grades of beef, veal and lamb (A, A and B) must be continued.

"Without rationing, most consumers in areas that do not produce

Ashes of Three US Fliers in '42 Raid of Tokyo Recovered

Eyewitnesses Tell of Their Execution by Japs at Shanghai

Shanghai, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The ashes of three Doolittle fliers who were executed by Japanese were recovered today, the U. S. War Crimes Commission disclosed.

Several eyewitnesses told fresh stories of the shooting in an old Chinese cemetery at the edge of Shanghai Oct. 15, 1942.

Seizure earlier of court martial records which doomed the three Tokyo-bombing fliers had afforded American proof that the infuriated Japanese military had singled out the trio of airmen for discriminatory treatment.

The Japanese government, in response to United States protests, had contended that airmen were handled like all other prisoners of war.

But the court martial papers showed the fliers, among the 80 who raided Tokyo and other Japanese cities April 18, 1942 under command of then Capt. James Doolittle, were tried on charges of violating "military regulations regarding aircraft crews."

Fate Sealed Quickly

It required only 30 minutes, with all proceedings in Japanese, to seal the fate of:

1. Lt. Dean Edward Hallmark, 27, Dallas, Texas, accused of piloting a plane which "bombed and strafed the city (of Tokyo) blindly and indiscriminately... killed scores of civilians and destroyed several civilian buildings."

2. Lt. William Glover Farrow, 23, of Darlington, S. C., accused of piloting a plane which "dived and strafed a Nagoya grammar school building and children playing on the grounds."

Sgt. Harold A. Spatz, 20, of Lebo, Kas., a machine-gunner on one of two B-25 Mitchells whose crash landings in China resulted in eight airmen falling into Japanese hands.

The death which befell the three on Oct. 15, 1942 also had been decreed for the other five. Their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment the day before the executions but one of the five, Lt. Robert J. Meder, 24, of Lakewood, Ohio, died Dec. 1, 1943 in a Nanjing prison camp after suffering from diseases due to poor care and malnutrition.

Eight Were Tortured

All eight were tortured in notorious Bridge House, Shanghai, in the days before the trial.

Although the fact the fliers took off from the carrier Hornet was kept a tightly guarded military secret in the United States for a year after the raid the Japanese

Argentina Is Boiling Again

Topics Discussed by MacArthur and Mikado Not Known

Hirohito Calls on Khaki-Clad Supreme Commander at Embassy

Tokyo, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Hat in hand, Emperor Hirohito shattered tradition by going to call on General MacArthur today—(amid renewed hints of future abdication, according to British Broadcasting corporation reports).

Topics of their secluded 35-minute conversation before the U. S. embassy fireside were not announced, but the mere fact the emperor came bowing to MacArthur's door "was the important thing," one American officer said. Such an event is new in Japan's rigidly dignified imperial history.

(The BBC quoted its Tokyo correspondent Douglas Willis as saying today that it is "strongly believed that Emperor Hirohito expressed his will to abdicate," and that "the redrafting of the Japanese constitution (to permit abdication) already is taking place." There was no confirmation).

The Japanese central liaison office, to which all inquiries were referred, told the Associated Press today that allied headquarters and the Japanese government "reached an agreement not to disclose"

Jails Swallow Up Foes of Farrell Military Regime

Buenos Aires, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Jails swallowed up leaders of every shade of opposition to Argentina's military government today.

Argentinians from the Atlantic to the Andes waited to see what further steps would be taken to carry out a state of siege imposed yesterday.

Squads of Federal police with long lists of wanted persons systematically covered this capital of 2,500,000 as the dragnet tightened here and elsewhere over the country.

The decree which deprives Argentinians of their civil rights came unexpectedly as the climax to a period of mounting opposition to the military regime of President Gen. Edelmiro Farrell and Col. Juan Peron, vice-president and strong man of Argentina. It followed by 24 hours the suppression of an uprising by the military garrison at Cordoba.

Similar action suspending constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press and assembly was taken in 1941, but the siege was lifted last July, when Farrell promised to call a general election before the end of the year.

"Transitory Measure"

Farrell told the nation last night that reimposition of the decree "should be regarded as a transitory measure" brought about by "an unrestrained campaign of disorder and commotion" which had excited the nation. He said in a radio address that the state of siege would be lifted "when the directive groups of the nation have shown they know how to make full use of liberty" and reiterated that the elections would be held as promised.

There has been no interference with incoming or outgoing news as yet, but the government has issued "requests" to newspapers to cease criticism of its actions.

Business Manager Ernesto Carreras of Critica was arrested, as was Assistant Publisher Alberto Desmone of Noticias Graficas, whose publisher, Jose Augusti, is now touring the United States.

Bricker May Seek U. S. Senatorship

Boston, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Former Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, may be a candidate for one of Ohio's seats in the senate in the November, 1946, election.

The three-term Ohio chief executive, in Boston to attend the national convocation of 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Masons, said, "I might," when asked if he would seek the senate seat vacated by the appointment of Harold H. Burton to the Supreme court. He said he would make no decision until after the Ohio municipal elections this fall.

Casualties

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The return of men on the "missing" list and shifts in other categories parted down today the nation's war casualty toll by 594.

The combined total for the armed forces now stands at 1,070,673, including 922,339 for the Navy.

The Army figures for this and for last week follow: killed—205,918 and 205,589; wounded—571,720 and 571,398; missing—23,271 and 24,131; prisoners 121,430 and 120,988.

The Navy figures: killed—54,468 and 54,068; wounded—80,214 and 80,238; missing—10,779 and 11,197; prisoners—2,842 and 3,379.

Heavy Frosts Forecast for Northern Illinois Friday Night and Saturday

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The first threat of frost damage to the 1945 corn crop came today when the U. S. weather bureau issued a frost warning for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and northern Illinois, with killing frosts expected in the first three states by Saturday morning.

Forecasters said an extensive cold air mass moving southeastward from Canada would strike the plains states and North Central states by this weekend. Nebraska, the Dakotas and portions of Minnesota already were chilled by below freezing temperatures.

Some crop damage was threatened since crop statisticians said much of the corn crop needed until mid-October to mature.

Minimum temperatures for Iowa by Saturday morning will be 28 in the northwest and 32 in the southeast; for Wisconsin, 26 in the north and 30 in the south; and for Minnesota, 25 in the north and 28 in the south.

Heavy frosts were forecast for northern Illinois Friday night and Saturday, and light frosts in the central portion, with minimums ranging from 34 in the north to 46 in the south. Indiana is expected to have scattered light frosts in the northwest Saturday morning and in the north and central portions Sunday morning.

Heavy frost also was predicted for lower Michigan Sunday morning, with a minimum temperature range of 32 in the north to 43 in the south.

Forecasters said temperatures would begin to rise Sunday in the western states and Monday in the North Central and Plains states.

Roundup of Doings in Washington for Telegraph Readers

Main Activities in National Capital Summarized by Associated Press

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—President Truman turned the heat on congress today. He wants more money for people out of work.

He said so in plain, vigorous words to Democratic members of the house ways and means committee.

With congressional tempers rising, the senate plunged ahead in one of its loudest quarrels in years—over future depressions and what the government can do to stop them.

The house naval committee agreed—unanimously—that the peacetime fleet should have at least 1,079 fighting ships.

That's exactly what the Navy wants. Next week the house will have a chance to vote on this question.

At the White House, Truman told ways and means members he is holding out for giving states enough federal cash to pay its unemployed up to $25 a week for 26 weeks.

Said Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross:

"He said the senate let him down and he expected the house not to do so."

Effect Not Clear

It wasn't clear when the committee Democrats went back to the Capitol for a huddle whether presidential persuasion had worked.

A house committee tried to find out why Earl Browder isn't running the communist party any more.

Ask delegates who elected the officers at a convention last July, Browder suggested.

Pensions for congressmen got an okay from a house subcommittee. But they still have to clear the full civil service committee, then the house, then the senate.

A limit on the number of terms a president may serve got some backing in the senate judiciary committee.

Senator Morse (R-Ore) said he thought the late President Roosevelt would still be alive—a valuable adviser to his party and government—had he served two instead of four terms.

Other Developments

In congress, also:

1. Two important congressmen came out against merging the War and Navy departments. They are Rep. Andrew May (D-Ky), chairman of the house military committee, and Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the house naval committee.

They stated their position in interviews as reports spread on Capitol Hill that President Truman is about to propose a merger.

2. Earl Browder appeared again today before the house committee on un-American activities. Members planned to ask him why he was kicked out as general secretary of the communist party and replaced by William Z. Foster.

3. A senate committee tried to speed up its stormy hearings on raising the minimum wage from 40 to 65 cents an hour. Senator Ellender (D-La) so far has led the fight against the bill. He argued yesterday with senators supporting it.

Truman Calls Leaders In

4. Truman called in Democrat members of the house ways and means committee. The topic: Unemployment pay.

This committee pigeon-holed the senate-approved bill for more help to jobless people. Truman wants it revived. But the betting is that the bill won't be considered again until the committee gets through writing a bill to cut taxes.

Here's the situation on future depressions:

Senatorial tempers are flaring in the debate over the "full employment bill." There were at least four noisy personal clashes yesterday. Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), presiding, cannonaded with his gavel and warned senators to speak only when recognized, and one at a time.

Truman supports the bill, which would make it a federal responsibility to assure jobs for all—if private enterprise can't do it.

Two Republicans Back Bill

But the fiercest defenders of the bill yesterday were two New England Republicans, Senators Tobey

HEROINES OF SCIENCE

BY FRANK CARNY

Associated Press Science Writer (Substituting for James Marlow) Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—Two heroines of science, whose contributions to medical knowledge are world-famous, are retiring as researchers for the National Institute of Health.

They are:
1. Dr. Alice Evans of Health, Pa., the U. S. Public Health Service says her retirement was brought about by recurrent attacks of undulant fever contracted 22 years ago during her laboratory work on the disease. She continued her researches in the malady despite the attacks.
2. Dr. Ida B. Wigglesworth of Harvard, Neb., who was stricken with endemic typhus fever while inoculating rats for study purposes. She later recovered fully.

Both scientists were cited by Public Health Service as ones whose services "measured in the saving of human lives, are a monument to the vast strides being made in the fields of research."

Ironically, Dr. Evans was a victim of the very disease which she herself first identified for the medical profession; she identified undulant, or Malta fever, in 1923.

Through persistent research, she succeeded in tracing the disease to blooded goats which had been imported to the United States through the Mediterranean. Her findings proved also that undulant fever, and the disease in cattle in the United States known as Bang's disease, are caused by identical germs.

Both diseases may be communicated to humans through the use of unpasteurized cow or goat milk.
Dr. Bengtson prepared, during 1935-36, the standard for gas gangrene toxins and anti-toxins—a standard now used by the League of Nations health committee in Copenhagen.
She also contributed to the early studies of the cause and prevention of food poisoning in canned foods, and for the past ten years has been devoting herself to work in "rickettial" diseases, such as typhus.

Voice of Experience

Recommended reading for every American who has the opportunity is the farewell statement made recently by Henry L.
Stimson as he retired at the age of 78 years, from the position of Secretary of War he had occupied with distinction since 1940. The message is one which likely will take its place among the nation's important state documents, and assuredly will be quoted extensively to future generations.

Certainly his statement is one to ponder as the nation and the world attempt to chart their course into the most uncertain future ever confronted by mankind. Mr. Stimson has made suggestions which should not and cannot be ignored by thinking people who are desperately anxious to navigate catastrophic waters ahead without treacherous.

The retiring secretary urged, in substance, that the United States remain strong in a military sense.
While recognizing that the effects of the release of atomic energy are sure to be revolutionary, he warned, "We must not make early assumptions that the days of armies and navies are over." Continuing, he cautioned: "We can be sure if war should come again that it would be awful in its sudden intensity, and we must never again allow ourselves to be caught in a state of complete unreadiness."

Thus, he urged that the United States must be prepared for whatever the future may hold. At the same time, he had important words to say about our relationships with other nations. Thus:

"The second factor (the first factor being preparedness) necessary to preserve our leadership is an attitude of trust and frankness on our part toward all nations working for collective security.
Cynicism and suspicion on our part can only breed a like response among those we suspect. A full and frank attitude of trust by our government will strongly tend to lead to a like attitude on the part of all members of the brotherhood of nations."

No thinking American can require convincing as to the wisdom of Mr. Stimson's advice concerning preparedness. Everyone knows that twice within a generation the United States has been able to prepare for war because allies held the enemy from our shores. Every thinking person doubtless shares the fear that the time might come when an unprepared United States might be forced suddenly into a life-and-death war without being given

NEWS
BEHIND
THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

Washington—The local sect of officials who have been developing a theory that peace can be obtained only by giving things to Russia and Britain and making them happy is now in meditative silence, momentarily at least.

Truman quieted the cabinet dispute about giving the atomic bomb to Russia by personally assuming responsibility for a future decision. He also carefully fend-ed off the ton of brickbats already in full flight toward the skull of Commerce Secretary Wallace by saying Wallace had not "insisted" upon the gift, but he did not say Wallace had not advocated such a course.

My well-chained informants say this means Russia does not get the bomb, at least not now, and not ever for sheer appeasement purposes. Why should she? What justifies such a gift? To what use does she propose to put the bomb certainly not to bring the four freedoms to the Balkans, Poland and Finland or anywhere. Instead not to promote any Truman international policies or purpose expressed at the London council of ministers. All our ideas were firmly turned down by Molotov according to reports the same day at the cabinet meeting. What good use could she thus possibly make of the bomb?

But more, I suspect the whole school of Wallace thought of peace by appeasement is breaking up.
More officials here think we ought to get something in return for giving. They want to make appeasement sound, by making it two-sided. They would like to see us win some points somewhere before doing out the money as well as the bomb.

The dickering over the money for Britain has taken a half right-turn in this direction. Lords Keynes and Halifax came in for their billions (without interest) with hats upended, ready to carry it away. Unfortunately they had left at home all their experts on empire preference tariffs discriminating against us, and such related trade matters which might afford us an opportunity to get something. Will Clayton, head of our delegation, said no business could be talked without these men.
So these experts are now on their way from London, while Keynes is holding luncheons and Halifax is otherwise propagandizing in favor of Britain getting the money without giving anything—interest, repayment guarantees or trade concessions. Incidentally Britain's best friends are telling Halifax the propaganda is the worst the wily British have ever presented in this country, running opportunity to get ready.

Indeed, Mr. Stimson's farewell statement is one to ponder. It may represent a patriotic service fully as noteworthy as any of the many he has rendered during his years of outstanding official service.

now as it does to tearful stories about the war widows and orphans, as if this advance were a charity to them rather than financing for socialism).

The glaring flaw in the theory of appeasement as a method of keeping the peace is that we have received no guarantees yet establishing the good will or worthiness of those to be appeased. Indeed, quite the opposite, our position is being kicked around by both Russia and Britain (see Laski speeches and Pravda articles).

This week Pravda, for example, developed the same basic argument on the Mediterranean used by Mussolini in precisely the same words: "Not a single geography book says the Mediterranean is a British sea." The League of Nations appealed Mussolini with Ethiopia, etc., but it did not prove an effective way of preserving peace, any more than greater appeasement worked later with Hitler. He appealed himself up from nothing to strength enough to try to lick us.

We also tried exactly the same kind of appeasement toward Japan, sending her oil and scrap iron to make her happy. It did not work. Never has the blind and simple distribution of large-esse to nations ever caused them to be either happy or friendly.
Peace cannot be soundly established that way. To endure, it must have the backing of mutual desire for it and be grounded in joint interest which can come only through just and sound dealing. No other impetus can keep alive any peace deal.

Appeasement thus has never justified itself as a policy, and furthermore is not popular in this country. A magazine recently reported a plurality of Americans polled think "it is important for the U. S. to be on friendly terms with Russia, but not so important that we should make too many concessions to her."

Our broad policy has grounds therefore for turning to expose facto appeasement—giving the money, the bomb and other things after we get solid ground established to justify such confidence.

bery and she rushed to Bob with every possible aid and sympathy.
Carolyn left them at state police headquarters. She was strangely keyed up now. She even forgot to eat.

"I have to move fast!" she told herself.

She inspected her purse. Then she called a taxi, went to a bank and took out all the $340 she had saved. Next she ordered a taxi driver to take her to the municipal airport, and there she made another business deal.

By noon her taxi driver had her back at the laboratory again, and when she alighted this time she smiled her sweetest at him and said, "I need a strong man to help me carry something."

"That's me, miss!" the driver answered with alacrity. "You want a trunk moved? I'll make room on the back rack."

"Not a trunk, a box. And—I'd be ever so much happier if it went inside. On the seat itself I—here!" She thrust a $5 bill at him.

He grinned. "Lady, I'll carry the box in me teeth if you want!"

SHE asked two of the guards to help him. The box was small but astonishingly heavy. She explained, in partial truth, that it contained some leaden forms which Dr. Hale wanted moved, and some "other heavy junk." Her heart went bump-bump-bump double time during the whole loading procedure.

Some 40 minutes later she had transferred the box to an airplane, a powerful cabin ship now under her personal lease, with pilot awaiting orders. She told the pilot she would be back.

"We going after another box,
miss?" her taxi driver asked.
They drove away from the municipal airport this second time.

"No. After a man."

"Hm-mm-mm-mm!" He grinned.
"Eloping, I'll bet!"

She sighed at that, in a much-needed relaxation. "I wish it were.
Driver, how in the world does a —a self-respecting girl pursue a man?"

Fair
Enoughby
Westbrook Pegler(Copyright 1945, by King Features Syndicate.)

New York—This will be another little lesson on the power of a few hundred boss unionists over all those Americans—some say sixty millions of us—who work for our living. If you are willing to let some goon run you off your job with a tire iron don't bother to study up on your problem. But when it happens to you or that young man with the Purple Heart, don't be writing letters to the editor asking "Can such things be?"

I recently told you about some manufacturers of electrical equipment who were barred from New York City by a conspiracy between local 3 of the Electricians' Union of the A. F. of L. and a combination of local manufacturers and contractors. This was no contest between underpaid and down-trodden workers and a bunch of soulless corporations. The workers in the out-of-town factories were union men, too, many of them members of the same A. F. of L. Electricians but in their home town locals.

The out-of-town manufacturers sued in the Federal court for an injunction back in 1935. John Kirkland Clark, a special master, held long hearings and decided in favor of the plaintiffs. The Supreme court recently upheld him.
However, the Supreme court did not object to the boycott, as such.
The court condemned it only because local three did not act by itself or in combination with other unions.

That would have been legal under Roosevelt justice, regardless of the cost to the public in higher building prices, higher rents for new apartments and higher taxes to pay for public buildings containing such electrical equipment.
Any mob of racketeers holding a charter from the A. F. of L. or the CIO may exclude from New York goods manufactured by the labor of war veterans living in, say, Ohio because the Supreme court was held that if unions act strictly in their own interest they may collect import taxes at state and municipal borders and even resort to downright highway robbery to collect the money.

These facts should be taught in the schools and if anyone should deny them, you get any lawyer to show you Frankfurter's decision in the Carpenters' case and Byrnes' decision in the Teamsters' case.

The objection to boycotts and restraints of trade arises only when industry or "capital" enters the scenario. Then the boycott is nefarious and illegal.

The out-of-town plaintiffs are much cheered and are planning to proceed with an old damage suit for $1,500,000 against Local 3.
Spread among the 20,000 members, most of whom have hardly any voice in running the local, that would be $65 per member and,
spread over three years, it would be painless.

These manufacturers couldn't recognize Local 3 as the bargaining agent for their people because Local 3 had no jurisdiction in their towns. And, as Clark found, Local 3, in combination with the local manufacturers and contractors, could charge the New York public whatever they liked. This is a fine example of the perfection of that "labor-management" combination that you have been hearing so much about from the Roosevelt fascists on the union racket. Don't think I am trying to make the local manufacturers and contractors look virtuous, either. They got fat, too, keeping competition out and passing on the cost to the public.

Clark pointed out something that has not occurred to many of us. He recalled that in the old articles of confederation the American colonies could impose import taxes against one another and that one of the great objectives of our constitution was to forbid such restraints on free commerce between the states. That is still in our constitution but the Roosevelt supreme court juggled the constitution by underhand processes

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief waste-taking organs. They filter out of the blood all the excess acids and poisons, waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matters stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent uric acid passages with small urine and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Effects of Army Bill

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)— Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D Colo.) predicted today that the Army and Navy soon "will get more volunteers than they can use." Johnson served as floor manager for an enlistment inducement bill which passed the senate yesterday.
"I think this is a good bill and I expect the house to accept most of the amendments approved by the senate," Johnson said in an interview. "We should get enough volunteers so that it will not be necessary to continue drafting men for the postwar occupation forces."

Senator Morse (R-Ore.), who lost his attempt to give all men and officers in the armed forces a flat $25 a month pay boost, was less optimistic.

"This bill will help, but it will not raise a voluntary army so large or so rapidly," Morse told a reporter.

CAROLYN WORKS FAST

XII

THE STORY: Disturbed by the mystery telegram, Carolyn receives the exciting news that Lanna's dead. Then she investigates the shipment. The X-999 is to be carried in a freight car unaccompanied by guards. The freight is held up, robbed, Bob is killed. But Carolyn calms him. "The stuff wasn't there. I took it out, myself."

BOB came to Carolyn's home because it was the quickest way for them to meet. She had snatched on the first clothes available and she literally ran into the night when his car succumbed to the curb. He stopped halfway out the car door, hatless, his hair un-combed, wearing not even a coat or tie. His voice was a study in misery.

"Oh, Bob!" She tried to speak calmly. "The X-999 was not on that freight train! It is still safe here in the city!"

"I helped put it on myself, yesterday morning!"

"No! You put on dummy packages!" Bob—listen, I know you don't understand, but Ken Palmer and I removed those inner leaden boxes and substituted rocks! Yes, rocks!"

"But Carolyn—" He was beginning to believe, at least to hope.
He gripped her shoulders now.

"I was going to tell you but you were away all day yesterday.
Ken and I did our work at 2 in the morning. The stuff is safe.
I—Bob, I had a sort of tip. A hunch! Don't ask me any more yet. Just come on! Let me drive!"

She ran around to the wheel and when he had collected his wits again they were well out toward the Schoenfeld Laboratory.

When they arrived she took him into the compound and to the laboratory proper. He was surprised to see several of their hired guards still on duty. "I ordered them to stay," she explained. "And paid them."

She had a key to the laboratory door. "I copied your key, Bob.
Had it done. Stuck yours on chevving gum to get a mold then used candle wax. A keysmith cut one easily from that. I—forgive me, Bob! And wait."

She let him in and the door closed behind them. For a moment they stood in semi-darkness.
Only the great looming form of the Schoenfeld cyclotron assailed them, shrouded in part against the high windows.

"Perhaps it is best not to turn on the main light," she said.
"Wait—a desk lamp—" She crossed to the sturdy oak cabinet table where work sheets were usually spread out. In a moment she had the small light burning.

"Bob—please."

He came over. He was still in somehow of a daze. While he watched she swung back one of the four broad bottom doors of the cabinet. Gingerly she then lifted the lid of a strong wooden packing box. Bob peered in.

He saw four small leaden cases, sealed, cushioned in crude but effective burlap padding. He knew them to be his own.

"Carolyn!" He barely breathed that, but it was a speech of infinite relief and gratitude.

LEST state police and newspaper reporters flood the laboratory, Bob hastened to go back downtown. He didn't want too much attention to him and his work.
He explained to police that his shipment had been chemicals only and that he couldn't imagine who would steal them, nor why.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Our town
has heroes, too

Over at Thistle Ridge they're always boasting about their local heroes—ancestors in the Revolutionary War, congressmen, and an artist with pictures in the Metropolitan Museum.

Well, we've got our local heroes, too . . .

There was old Doc Turner, who fought for years against the intolerance and bigotry that kept children from being vaccinated in our county.

And Deacon Follensby, who fought for free pews in the churches; Jess Hackney, who campaigned for teaching honest history in schools; Wedd Towers, who fought the encroachment of Prohibition in our county and persuaded folks they wanted tolerance and moderation in place of a return to lawlessness.

You won't find monuments to these folks. But from where I sit, they're heroes in a cause that's pretty sacred in our town:
the cause of freedom, tolerance,
and human dignity.

Forney-Maurer Wedding Pretty Event Wednesday

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Church of the Brethren a simple yet pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The Rev. William E. Thompson, pastor of the church, performed the wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Dorothy Forney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Forney, of Route 4, Dixon, and Daniel Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Maurer of Amboy.

Mrs. Ada Underwood before the ceremony, played "Oh Promise Me," and as the bride party approached the altar she played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, by Wagner.

The charming bride wore a lovely gown of aqua crepe, with white accessories, and a strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She wore her sister's bridal hat for her own wedding. It was a small off-the-face hat of delicate white flower petals from which fell a white shoulder length veil. She wore a corsage of red roses and orange blossoms.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Stein, as matron of honor and the bridegroom chose Dale Bowers as his best man. Mrs. Stein was attired in a modish grey dress with a charming small hat of white feathers, and black velvet bows, from which a white shoulder length veil fell. Mrs. Stein also wore a corsage like the bride's, of red roses and orange blossoms.

Mrs. Maurer, mother of the bridegroom, was unable to attend her son's wedding. Mrs. Forney, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue gown with white accessories, and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

After the ceremony the members of the bridal party enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the Nachusa house.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurer are both popular young folks whose friends extend best wishes for happiness to them. They will live on the groom's farm which is about ten miles south of Dixon.

Dear _____
I have a new job. I'm supervisor of the Bexar county schools. I have 60 schools and over 200 teachers that I have to supervise. I have an office in the court house with the county superintendent of schools. We have a good staff, a bookkeeper, a typist, and an office girl. It is certainly a grand job, and the best of it all is I didn't seek it. The county superintendent offered it to me. The only drawback was that I had to buy a new car. I had a high priority, but that did little good when there were no new cars. I did get a pretty good car, in splendid condition (for a wonder). I can't imagine any worse time to have to buy a car. I have a lot of traveling to do with so many schools, but none of them are farther away than 25 miles.

I plan to be in the office three days a week and out in the county three days. The county superintendent is grand and gives me a freehand to work out my own plans. I hated to give up my job in the high school, but this was too good a thing to turn down.

The message was sent to Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press by N. Gatake, president of the newspaper, Asahi; Shingoro Takashi, president of the Mainichi; and Matsutaro Shoriki, president of the Yomiuri-Hochi.

It was in response to telegrams Cooper had sent them individually Sept. 20 expressing the hope that each would sponsor "restoration of a cooperative news association" along the lines of the Associated Press so that the latter can constructively cooperate in complete rehabilitation of news exchange between the press of our respective nations wholly independent of government control or interference.

Illinois Leads in Chick Production

Springfield Ill. Sept. 27—(AP)—An output of 5,200,000 chicks in Illinois last month was the largest on record for the month of August, the state-federal agriculture departments reported today.

Last year's August production was 1,788,000, and the five-year average (1938-43) was 1,899,000.

Illinois leads all states with a production of 125,052,000 baby chicks during the first eight months of the year.

of New Hampshire and Aiken of Vermont. They argued against Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Radcliffe (D-MD), Millikin (R-Colo.), and Ball (R-Minn).

So far, the big noise is over a section of the bill which says that whenever full employment cannot be otherwise assured, the federal government shall make whatever "expenditure and investment" needed to assure it.

Taft and Radcliffe offered an amendment to change this. They don't want it to sound as though the government is "guaranteeing" jobs. They want the bill to say in effect that such spending shall not be unlimited, but shall be made with due consideration for other obligations of the government. That is, they don't think assuring that the average annual civilian job should be paramount over all other purposes.

Today, Senator Barkley (D-Ky) planned to ask approval of the bill on the ground that it is a preliminary measure. No specific actions could be taken to create jobs unless congress passes further laws.

OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said the seasonal increase in marketing of range-fed cattle is the principal reason one-third of the meat supply can be made ration-free. These cattle produce the lower grades of beef.

OPA said that supplies of butter, margarine, lard and cooking and salad oils have improved, but not enough to warrant a cut in point values. The agency noted, however, that because a number of meat cuts will be ration-free, housewives will have more points for fats and oils.

The usual monthly allotment of 50 red points will become valid next Monday. The new stamps, in ration book 4, are R1, S1, T1, U1 and V1. Stamps V2, W2, X2, Y2 and Z2 expire Sunday.

Girl's Entry Is Grand Champion Junior Hog Show

Chicago, Sept. 27—(AP)—Only three girls were listed among 173 entrants in the Chicago Junior market hog show and sale, but one of them, Esther Meech, 17, of Beloit, Wis., today held the grand championship award for an individual hog.

Her 225-pound purebred Hampshire yesterday adjudged best of the show, was sold at a record of $125 a pound to Swift & Co. The Pillsbury Agricultural Achievement Trophy also was given her as an award.

With sale of hogs unlimited by OPA ceilings, other record prices also were set for pens of three and five.

Raymond E. Johnson, 17, Paxton, Ill., winner of the pen of five award, sold his crossbred Berkshire and Poland China hogs to Armour & Co. for 24 cents a pound.

Norman Jorstad, 17, Morris, Ill., award winner for the pens of three, sold his Chester Whites to Wilson & Co. for 32 cents a pound.

Last year Jorstad won the individual championship as well as the prizes for pens of three and five.

Finalists competing with Miss Meech in the individual class were Glenn Thomas, 20, DeWitt, Ill., with a 215-pound Poland China, and Robert Meyer, 19, Crescent City, Ill., with a 220-pound Chester White.

Youths from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio exhibited 850 hogs raised in 4-H and Vocational Agricultural Club projects during the one-day show at the Stockyards. The Union Stockyard & Transit Company, sponsor of the event, limited the entry list to boys and girls between 11 and 20 years of age.

duce these meats would find it difficult if not impossible to get their fair share," OPA said.

But there was this good news on increasing supply of meat: the agriculture department estimated that the average annual civilian rate in October will be from 147 to 150 pounds per capita. A few months ago the yearly rate was about 115 pounds. However, to meet full demand the rate would have to be close to 165 pounds, it was stated.

the topics discussed. The Japanese spokesman said that he personally knew what the conversation included, but that he could not reveal it without MacArthur's permission.

Illinois Troops at Kobe

While the general and the emperor sat by a glowing fire and talked, Daniel agency reported that four elements of the Sixth Army's 33rd Division, former Illinois National Guard outfit, had arrived in the Kobe area on Western Honshu to swell occupation troops there to 4,500.

Marquis Koichi Kido, Keeper of the Privy Seal, who is the emperor's principal adviser in these matters, told the Associated Press there is no prospect at present of abdication because Hirohito personally must carry out the Potsdam terms.

The emperor's somewhat old, dark automobile drove up to the embassy's main entrance. Hirohito was sitting bolt upright in the seat. His Grand Chamberlain, Admiral Fujita, was sitting facing the emperor.

An attendant jumped out of the car, opened the door and bowed. The Chamberlain backed out of the car, keeping his face to the emperor, and bowed as Hirohito got out.

Hirohito Doffs Hat

The emperor found Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, MacArthur's aide, and Maj. Saubion Bower, an interpreter, awaiting them. Hirohito, in formal diplomatic clothes, took off his silk hat, bowed, and shook hands with Fellers, probably an unprecedented thing.

The emperor again extended his hand as Fellers introduced him to Bower.

Fellers ushered the emperor ahead of him to the state reception room where, as he entered the door, Hirohito bowed in MacArthur's direction.

Hirohito found his host wearing Army khaki and an open-throated shirt. The supreme allied commander wore no tie and no medals.

The call was informal. A spokesman acknowledged that the meeting was "fraught with significance" but emphasized it was arranged at the request of the emperor's representative, presumably at a recent visit of Fujita.

Pose for Picture

The two shook hands and MacArthur greeted him with "good morning." They posed briefly for a picture, then moved to a settee where they began to talk.

Second Lt. Gae Faillace, 41-year-old Signal Corps officer, was the only cameraman allowed at the meeting. He related:

"As the emperor and MacArthur moved into position where I was to take their pictures, the emperor turned to me and said 'Good Morning.' I said 'Good Morning, sir' in military fashion."

There was a quiet dignity about the preliminaries as though MacArthur was trying to make the visit as painless as possible for the emperor, who for the first time in the history of the Japanese empire was calling upon a representative of the United States.

One officer who saw the emperor close said he appeared to be "an intelligent person."

"Dignity Maintained"

American news correspondents were told that steps taken to bar complete coverage of the meeting were necessary to avoid "impairing the dignity of the occasion."

Newsman were stopped at the embassy's gate by guards who said they had been instructed not to allow anyone within two blocks of the meeting place.

A spokesman later explained that "we couldn't allow you around the embassy because the road was too narrow and we couldn't make arrangements for your presence because it would impair the dignity of the occasion."

The Mikado's route along the embassy drive was through a corridor of troops commanded by 2nd Lt. Edward Schurr, Royal Oak, Mich. These same guards were in the front of the gateway of the First Cavalry Division—were in the living column which first flung itself into the fight.

There was none of the fanfare or excitement one would expect at such an historic event.

Without warning, a five-car convoy arrived suddenly in the area of the American embassy, whizzed up a hill to the gateway to the official residence, and disappeared into the wall surrounding the grounds.

As the cars passed through the gate, two sentries from the First Cavalry Division—Pfc. Elmer F. Ell, St. Charles, Mo., and Elmer F. Crumock, Sturgeon Bay, Wis.—busily presented arms.

The emperor tipped his hat to a couple of soldiers with green helmets and bayonets.

the advent of rule by the people.

Imagine what the disclosure of this meeting will mean to the millions who never have dared even to raise their eyes to gaze directly upon their emperor.

It's easy to believe that this may do much to shock medieval Japan out of its trance. Certainly it may be expected to spur the current talk of possible abdication by the mikado, or at least his abandonment of temporal power to make way for the inauguration of a popular form of government. This needn't disturb his position as spiritual head—if the people want him.

We get other indications of allied progress in consolidating our victory over Germany and Japan. The simultaneous actions of Generals MacArthur and Eisenhower in tightening up their occupation controls provide significant answers to recent sharp criticism at home and abroad that the aggressor nations are being given too soft a peace.

The developments in both cases are aimed at speeding up attainment of the chief allied war aims. These were to render the enemy utterly impotent militarily, and at the same time to destroy the militaristic mentality, which, in the case of Germany, encompassed Hitlerism. The physical defeat has been achieved, but the more difficult moral reform cannot be carried out until the two peoples have been made to understand that their countries have been smashed.

It isn't stated whether the moves in Japan and Germany are due to allied public opinion or are normal developments of the occupation program. In any event it is safe to assume that they represent the desire of the general public that we crack down on the axis hard enough to achieve lasting peace. And in passing it may be remarked that the very natural desire of the folk at home to get our soldier boys back doesn't contemplate the impairment of the government's ability to carry out the occupational essentials.

Tigers Need One Victory For Pennant

Detroit, Sept. 27—(AP)—For the second straight year the American league pennant race was headed right down to the wire today with the Detroit Tigers determined to avoid a collapse similar to that of 1944 when they lost the flag to the St. Louis Browns on the final day of the season.

Detroit, after splitting yesterday's twin bill with Cleveland, need to win just one of its final two games Saturday and Sunday at St. Louis to edge out Washington for the championship.

"We certainly ought to be able to win one of those two at St. Louis," their manager, Steve O'Neill, asserted. "It wouldn't be right for a club to lose two straight pennants that close."

If St. Louis should knock off the leaders twice, Detroit and Washington would meet in a single game playoff for the pennant Monday.

The Tigers, making certain of at least a tie with the Senators who finished their season last Sunday, teed off on speed-baller Allie Reynolds with a 13-hit assault, six of them for extra bases, in yesterday's first game but couldn't hold a 2-0 lead and dropped the nightcap, 3 to 2.

Newhouse Gets 24th
Hal Newhouse, making his 24th pitching victory his eighth shut-out of the season, scattered seven Cleveland hits as the Tigers hammered across five runs in the first inning of the opener and clinched the victory with four more runs in the seventh.

Roy Cullenbine's 18th homer and Hank Greenberg's 12th circuit swat each punched across five runs in the first inning of the opener and clinched the victory with four more runs in the seventh.

Roy Cullenbine's 18th homer and Hank Greenberg's 12th circuit swat each punched across three Tiger runs as Newhouse coasted in, fanning 10 Indians to run his season strikeout total to 206.

Steve Gromek, a native Detroit, wouldn't curl up and play dead in the nightcap, however, giving the Tigers just six hits in pitching his way over a couple of rough spots to beat Al Benton, Tiger right-hander who was knocked out of the box for the 12th straight time.

Gromek yielded a run in the third inning, when the Tigers put together Bob Swift's double and Skeeter Webb's triple, and another in the fifth, when Detroit tallied with a well-executed squeeze play.

Cleveland came from behind for all of its runs in the sixth inning. Les Fleming's double scored Mickey Rocco who had singled and Jeff Heath who had reached first on Benton's error. Benton gave way to George Caster at that point and Pat Seery singled to left, scoring Fleming with the winning run.

He said Mrs. Grace Comiskey, owner of the club, will "announce my successor later."

Rockford Rows Over Raising a Poultry

Rockford, Ill., 27—(AP)—The city council is rowing over whether to regulate poultry raising within the city limits as before the war. One councilman suggested chicken raising be banned, effective Thanksgiving Day, but another wanted to make the date Jan. 1. The ordinance says only that chickens can't be raised within 100 feet of a residence. The matter was delayed for a later decision.

George W. Whistler, father of the czar, was commissioned by the czar of Russia to build the railroad from Moscow to Leningrad.

Andy Phillip to Rejoin Mates in Whiz Kids Team

(The following story was written by Sgt. Bill Hengen, Marine Corps combat correspondent formerly of the Minneapolis Star-Journal sports staff, and is distributed by the Associated Press.)

By SGT. BILL HENGGEN

Mau, Hawaiian Islands (Delayed)—Andy Phillip, one of the Western Conference all-time basketball greats, expects the original "Whiz Kids" of Illinois to reunite next year and bid for their third straight conference title.

Phillip, a Marine second lieutenant and veteran of Iwo, said the "Whiz Kids," who won the Big Ten title in 1942 and '43, came through the war with flying colors and that he and the four other regulars have, through correspondence, expressed a desire to return to Illinois for the 1946-47 season.

All of which is good news to coach Doug Mills, but bad news to the other Big Ten teams.

The lieutenant, who broke two conference records in 1943 by scoring 40 points against Chicago and 255 points for 12 games, said Lt. Gene Vance was with the infantry in Germany; Corps. Ken Menke and Art Mathisen with the howitzers in Germany; and Pfc. Jack Spilley with the 105's in Germany. They have written that they intend to finish their college careers, and hope to do so as a team.

In the meantime, Phillip has been keeping his shooting eye in shape.

Named All-American

Named on the Associated Press' All-Time All-America in 1943, Phillip has been playing with marine division and battalion quints. With the battalion club, Phillip scored 62 points in one game, 54 in another. His team won 87 straight and he averaged 37 points a game.

Tuberculosis Assn. '45 Christmas Seals Symbolic of Youth

A healthy young boy symbol of the youth of America is depicted on the 1945 Christmas Seals which arrived at headquarters of the Lee County Tuberculosis Association last week. The seals will be distributed throughout the county as part of a nation-wide campaign to be conducted between November 19 and December 25 to raise funds for tuberculosis control.

The firemen of the Dixon department have generously offered their services to fold the seals for the ladies of the Legion auxiliary who very ably assist the association with the stuffing of seals and letters.

Funds raised throughout the country will be used principally to support the local health program. All but five per cent is spent within the state in which it is raised. This five per cent is forwarded to the National Tuberculosis association, the parent body of 2,500 voluntary tuberculosis associations.

Since tuberculosis is a communicable disease, it is more than a local problem and must be attacked on all fronts. Though local associations are autonomous, they may draw upon the experience and advice of the national body and also benefit from medical research supported by the national organization.

Organized in 1901 the national association was organized in 1904 by a group of laymen and physicians who, alarmed by the tuberculosis mortality in this country banded together to plan a campaign against the disease. At that time tuberculosis was the leading cause of death. It now has fallen to seventh place, but still kills more persons between 15 and 45 than any other disease.

A quota of $5,700 has been set by the budget committee for this county. This money will be used to continue a most comprehensive program throughout the county this year. Our industrial survey by use of the mobile x-ray unit was a means of finding several active cases of tuberculosis. It is planned to give the tuberculin test to all freshmen and senior classes in the high schools of the county and x-ray the chests of those who show a positive reaction to the test. Workers will follow up and check the contacts of those whom they know to be sufferers from tuberculosis.

The 1945 seal was designed by Park Phipps of the Chicago Art Institute. In the traditional Christmas colors of red and green, the seal shows a bright young lad carrying home a holiday wreath. A white house with a tall picket fence is in the background and opposite the youth is a red double-barred cross, emblem of the Crusade for Health.

She Swims, Too

The "1946-National-Swim-for-Health Week girl" is the lengthy title bestowed on Betty Marshall, above, of Ashland, Ky., in a recent nation-wide contest. Judges based their choice on beauty, photogenic qualities, form and swimming ability. A model in New York, Betty measures up thusly: weight, 124 pounds; bust, 35 inches; waist, 24 inches; hips, 36 inches.

QUICK. No measuring. No sifting. 12 to 18 tender, crisp corn muffins by just adding egg and milk. That's Flakorn. If your grocer hasn't it (or Flako) today, check with him again tomorrow.

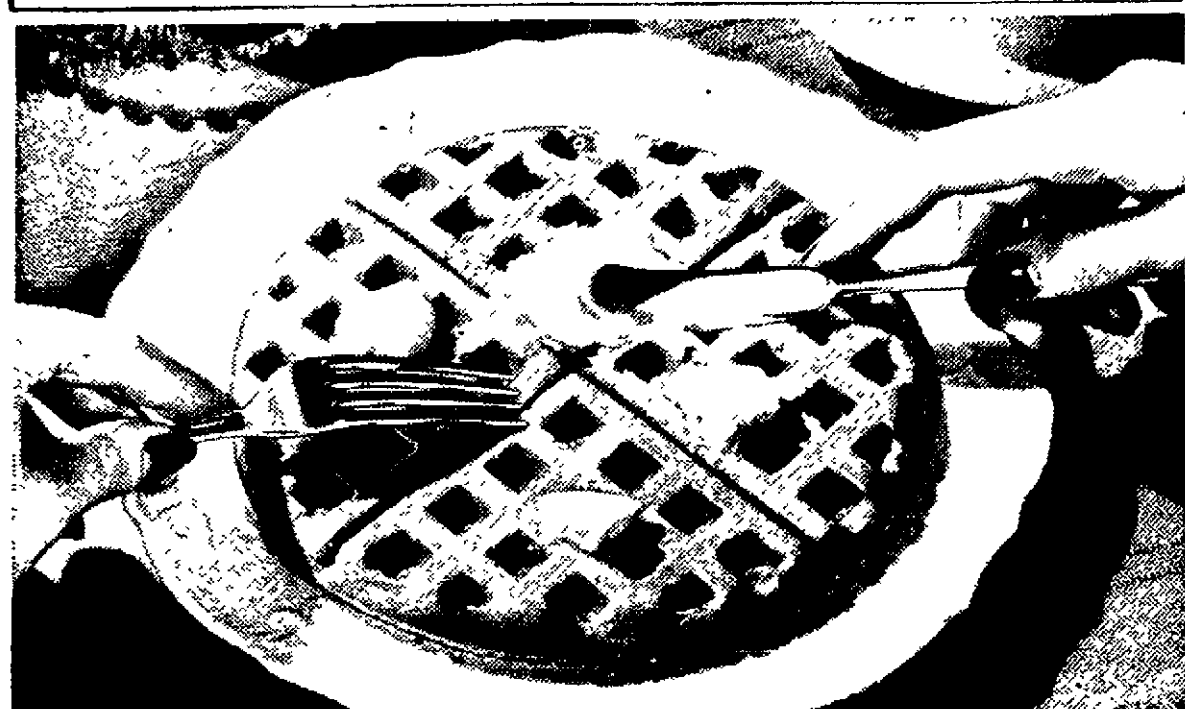

And here's the quick, easy way to make delicious pie crust—FLAKO CRUST

New York, Sept. 27—(AP)—Resignation of Alfred Wallenstein as director of classical music of ABC was due, he wrote, to a feeling that his plans would not work out.

He put it this way in the letter: "Recent changes in policy and personnel make it obvious to me that our project would be no longer possible of achievement." This project, the letter said, was to "establish leadership and distinction as no network now has in the music field." Among guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stuhl at Lostant, Ill.

PIN-WORM ITCH MAY THREATEN YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Don't let your child suffer a single needless minute of distress with Pin-Worms! Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong. So watch out for the warning signs—especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it!

A highly effective way to deal with this ugly infection has now been made possible. It is based on the use of a powerful drug known as quinolone violet. This special Pin-Worm tablet developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So, if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, get a box of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions.

Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms!
